

TIDELAND SUIT UP TODAY

Morgan Oyster Co. vs. City of Richmond Case Will Be Closed at Martine's.

Will Probably Go to Court for Decision This Afternoon; Valuable Land in Dispute.

Final arguments in the suit of the Bay Counties Land Company against the City of Richmond, to determine the ownership of valuable waterfront land, will be made in the Superior Court at Martine's today. Before night the case will be presented to the court for a decision.

Little testimony of a material nature was brought out during the hearing yesterday on the matter, which took up the entire day in the Superior Court at Martine's. A map showing the disputed territory was introduced during the day.

The Bay Counties Land Company put witnesses on the stand, who stated that several years ago the company had planted oysters over the channel in dispute, and had erected a fence around the oyster beds. City Attorney Hall's contention is that the channel that is being dredged is navigable and no company has the right to claim it, and thereby prevent navigation and the carrying on of commerce.

HAS FORTUNE TOLD, THEN HE FINDS PURSE IS MISSING

Fortune Teller Relates Tale of Wealth; Now She Is Out on Bail.

Mary Mietlo, one of a band of gypsies that appeared at San Pablo several days ago, was arrested at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Constable Motson, who took her into custody on a charge of robbery.

Modesto Tabera, a Mexican section hand in the employ of the Southern Pacific company at Giant, caused the woman's arrest. Tabera alleges that she accosted him while on the way to work near Giant yesterday morning, and offered to tell his fortune. The gypsy woman conjured up a tale of wealth for the Mexican, he crossed her palm with a little silver, and she went on her way.

Several hours later Tabera reached for a pocketbook in which he claimed he had $35. It was missing. He immediately suspicioned the Mietlo woman of extracting it from his pocket while he was intently listening to the tale of his future.

Tabera notified Constable Motson of his loss, and his suspicion regarding the gypsy woman. Motson took the woman into custody. On her arraignment before Justice of the Peace Chichester she was released on payment of $50 bail, furnished by fellow countrymen.

She will have her preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Chichester tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

GAMBLER IS FOUND GUILTY

Jury Disregards Instructions of Judge After Hour of Deliberation.

Lindsey Holds That Testimony of Youth Was Not Sufficient.

In spite of the instructions of Judge Lindsey, who yesterday addressed the jury in the case of Paul M. Pales, a Greek, to find him not guilty, the twelve men, after deliberating one hour, found Pales guilty of gambling as charged. Judge Lindsey asserted that the testimony of the prosecuting witness, Michael Peters, aged 18 years, was not sufficient, inasmuch as his testimony was that of an accomplice.

Thomas C. Hannum, who represented Pales, will today move that the verdict of guilty be dismissed on the ground that the jury's findings were not in accordance with the instructions of the court.

Peters, the prosecuting witness, testified that Pales, who is proprietor of a hotel in Pullman, offered to teach him the game of "21." Before the lesson was finished, he was loser $100. He advised his parents of his loss, and they told him to prosecute the Greek hotel man.

Attorney Daniel H. Knox of San Francisco appeared as special prosecutor.

Death took place at the home of relatives at 2621 Roosevelt avenue, and was from blood poisoning. Two weeks ago Mrs. Hartman gave birth to a child. From that time until her death she sank rapidly.

Mrs. Hartman was a native of Kansas, moving here about two years ago. Beside her husband, who is an employe on the local street car line, Mrs. Hartman is survived by a large number of relatives residing here.

Funeral arrangements will be announced today.

Many Labor Bills Are in Legislature

Free Job Agencies, Cement Dust, Anti-Injunction and Other Measures Proposed

Of the labor bills introduced into the Legislature, the free employment agencies measure has probably aroused the most comment. Among the other measures are also the child labor law, the minimum wage law, the full crew bill, the anti-injunction law, anti-spotters bill and a number of others, new and old.

To a certain extent organized labor is divided on the question of the establishing of the free employment bureau. There is the immigration and housing bill and the labor commissioner bill. Both measures aim at the same thing, the elimination of the private employment agency evil, the office fee and all the graft that goes with the privately owned system.

The immigration and housing commission bill would have in charge of the administration of the state free employment bureau five representative men, employers and employees alike, while the labor commissioner bill would have at the head of the state free labor employment bureau one man. It is on the question of one man, or a board of five men in charge, that labor differs.

Under the immigration and housing commission's bill the commission would have power to establish state labor exchanges and to co-operate with the United States government for the investigation of the causes of unemployment. The central bureau of labor exchanges shall be under a director, and labor exchanges would be established and maintained in the centers of population.

Methods of procedure are laid down in this bill for the administration of the law. It is, in other words, a complete bill establishing the machinery and proceeding to direct how that machinery shall be operated.

The state labor commissioner's bill is not so complete. In details of what shall be done, it simply directs the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics to establish free employment bureaus in the cities of San Francisco, Los Angeles and Sacramento, and thereafter wherever he deems it necessary in other cities and towns.

It gives him the right to secure offices for the housing of the bureau and make an appropriation of $50,000 annually for the maintenance of the bureau.

Senator Kehoe has a bill—S. B. 339—similar to the immigration and housing commission measure.

The immigration and housing bill is A. B. 356. Harris, and the labor commissioner's bills are S. B. 325, Loya, and A. B. 335, McDonald—the last two being duplicates.

Senate bill 1063, Duncan, would make justices of the peace in townships of less than 1500 employment agents.

A number of bills aim at the unemployment problem. Assemblyman Spangler, Socialist, has a measure—A. B. 502—requiring every board and official of the state, every city and every county, having authority to hire men, to arrange work so as to employ the maximum number during the months when the unemployment problem is most acute.

Assemblyman Downing, Socialist, introduced A. B. 501, appropriating $1,000,000 to be spent by the Board of Control in giving employment to the jobless citizens of the state. The bill sets forth that the money shall be spent in the building and improving of roads, public buildings and in other work.

Assemblyman Kramer, in A. B. No. 570, seeks to establish a farm for the unemployed.

Assemblyman Downing has a proposed constitutional amendment—A. C. A. No. 3—that would authorize the state to proceed with internal improvements, establish farms, factories, workshops and other industries for the purpose of giving work to the jobless.

Scott suggests that 100 acres situated in Napa county be set aside for a state farm to provide work for the inmates of the state's prisons.

The child labor bill, introduced by Senator Loya (S. B. 237), is sweeping and drastic. It changes the ages at which minors shall be allowed to work, prohibits minors from working a certain hazardous and extra-hazardous occupations and prohibits children under 14 years of age from selling, or peddling, newspapers, magazines or periodicals.

This measure lowers the age from 18 to 14 years at which a minor may work in a mercantile establishment; raises the age from 12 to 14 when a minor may go to work after having completed the grammar course in school; fixes 18 years as the age at which children may enter the hazardous and extra-hazardous occupations in this state, and raises the age for messengers from 16 to 21 years, where the work is before 5 o'clock in the morning and after 9 o'clock at night. The law at present fixes the time as before 5 o'clock in the morning and after 10 o'clock at night.

Sweeping Provision

Under the measure, no provision to stop boys under 14 from selling newspapers or peddling them, applies to all the cities of the state from 25,000 population upward. Boys may get permits to do this kind of work, however, when they are between 14 and 15 years old. Permission must be given by the school authorities, who will give the boys badges showing they have the right to sell newspapers outside school hours.

Full Crew Bill Changes

Important changes are proposed in the full crew law of 1911 and 1913. The measure seeking to remedy the existing law to meet the needs of the trainmen is Assembly bill 927, Golder. It is an amendatory bill, and makes some important changes in the law.

The first is that no mail, passenger or express train shall contain more than 12 cars, and no freight train shall contain more than 20 cars. Then there is a provision amending the law so as to require "full crews" on "mixed" trains, as follows: One engineer, one fireman for each steam locomotive, one conductor, two brakemen and one flagman. The flagman is an additional man for such trains.

Limits Size of Train

Probably one of his most important changes asked in the bill is that no mixed freight train shall contain more than 60 cars when running on a level or easy grade, and 45 cars when on the heavy grades. The present law places no limit on the number of cars.

The next important change is an amendment for a full crew for the self-propelled and other self-propelled units which run on the railroad tracks and are used in construction work. Each outfit shall have one engineer and one fireman, one steam locomotive, one steam engine, or one motor power control man, for each self-propelled, pile-driver and one or more standard cars, one conductor and one brakeman.

Senate bill 237, Jones, prohibits any engineer, fireman, conductor, brakeman or trainman receiving, delivering or transmitting at any receiving or forwarding instrument, or any telegraph or telephone line, any order for the movement of a train.

There is a provision setting forth that this proposed measure shall not apply to interurban or street railroads.

Anti-Injunction Bill

The anti-injunction bill was introduced in the Assembly by Golder (A. B. 542) and in the Senate by Loya (S. B. 237). This is a simple measure setting forth that no restraining order, or injunction, shall be granted by any court or by any judge in any case between an employer and employee, or between persons employed and persons seeking employment, involving or growing out of a dispute concerning terms or conditions of employment, or because of any act or acts done.

There is an exception in the case where an injunction would be necessary to prevent irreparable injury to property for which there is no ad-

SEEK CROCKETT MAN AS KEY PLUMAS COUNTY MURDER PLOT

Paul Odett Thought to Know Much About Brutal Killing in Portola.

Where is Paul Odett, former Portola, Plumas county, resident, and more recently a resident of Crockett, in this county?

Plumas county officials are conducting a diligent search to ascertain the whereabouts of Odett. In the search for the missing man they are being assisted by officers in every county in the state.

Odett is known to have definite information concerning the perpetrator of a brutal murder that has stirred the citizens of the northern and eastern counties of the state.

Last Thursday morning George W. Miller, a resident of Portola, a division town on the Western Pacific, was found with two bullet holes in his head. His body had been left to burn in the flames of his own home, which his murderers had set fire to. Miller was presumably killed because he knew details of another famous Plumas county murder case, the killing of Thomas Reynolds on Nov. 5 last. Frank Cooke, a Western Pacific brakeman, was arrested and recently tried for the murder of Reynolds. His jury disagreed. Miller, the murdered man, was supposed to have evidence in his possession that would materially change the complexion of the case against Cooke.

It is now believed that the murderer of Reynolds was the man who killed Miller.

Odett, the Crockett man, until recently lived in Portola. Evidently he knows enough about the second murder case to send the murderers, whoever they are, to the gallows.

A letter written to Miller from Crockett by Odett, which was found in Miller's belongings, follows:

"Dear Sir,

"I receive your welcome letter a few days ago and was glad to hear from you. You tell me you haven't heard from Mrs. Rickard.

"I haven't wrote to her but I am going to write to the attorney for the defense as soon as I hear from her.

"Tell me what Leo last name is, for I am going to tell all about that murder case. I always thought that your dish washer was in that murder case, and I think so yet. He must have been living with Mrs. Rickard at the time that Tom Russell (Thomas Reynolds) was murdered, he had a bad record, he is a very dangerous man to be at large.

"The night after the murder was committed he was very anxious to show on the place where the man got killed he will have to account where he was at that time.

"A few days before I left I was in your place Tom's name was mentioned and Leo said he wish that Tom Russell was in Hell so write to me as soon as you get this."

FORMING A LABEL LEAGUE

Secretary of S. F. Label Section Tells Local Body How Last Night.

Plan Big Meeting Preliminary to Effecting Permanent Organization.

Emil Guth, secretary of the Label Section of the San Francisco Labor Council, addressed the local Labor Council last night on the establishing of a Woman's Union Label League. Guth suggested the holding of a big entertainment preliminary to effecting permanent organization of the new league.

A committee has been appointed by the Labor Council and members of it given power to act for the Labor Council at the meeting of the Building Trades Council tonight. The two councils will pull together on the new project. The date of the mass meeting or entertainment will probably be decided tonight. A general plan of organization will also be decided.

The league is being formed for the purpose of enforcing the more general demand for the union label in Richmond. Women, the buyers of the community, are to be interested and will undoubtedly work hard for the project. At the first big meeting able speakers will be secured to explain to the prospective members the purposes of the league and what it can accomplish if everybody gets behind it.

A communication was received from the Hatters' Union explaining the recent Supreme Court decision, awarding the Danbury Hat Company damages against the members of the Hatters' Union for boycotting unfair headgear. These members will probably lose their homes and all their other belongings because of the decision.

Two local bakeries that are paying the Bakers' Union scale of wages have been forced, because of the tremendous rise in the cost of flour, to cease selling bread six loaves for 25 cents and will hereafter sell it for 5 cents per loaf straight. The other bakeries, paying their employees unfair wages, have not changed their prices.

The business agent of the Bakers' Union has been asked to attend the next meeting of the Labor Council, when some pain will be decided upon in connection with the matter.

TWO SUSPECTS PLACED UNDER $1,000 BAIL

William Ross and Manuel Gomes, two youths arrested on suspicion of being the men who attempted to rob the store of A. A. Wintree early on Monday morning—a little after 11 o'clock—were arraigned before Police Judge Lindsey yesterday. They were charged with attempted burglary. Their bail was set at $1000 apiece, which neither have been able to furnish.

Although Ross and Gomes continue to declare that they are innocent of any wrongdoing, Chief of Police Walker thinks there is no doubt that Sergeant Jennings and Patrolmen Kirkpatrick and Cox arrested the right pair when they arrested the youths.

GETS PERMIT TO BUILD WEST SIDE STRUCTURE

William Yahrns yesterday secured a permit to construct a two-story brick building, to cost $3000, on the site where Justice of the Peace John Roth formerly had his office. The permit was issued by Building Inspector Wierda. R. A. Palmer, who has the contract for the construction of the structure, says the building when completed will be one of the most up-to-date on the west side.

The old wooden shack, which has been on the site, is fast being torn down.

THREE ESCAPE FROM COUNTY HOSPITAL; STILL AT LARGE

Reports received late last night from the County Hospital at Martine's were to the effect that William Ross, Walter Cleveland Dickerson and John Antolini, three insane suspects, who made a spectacular escape from the hospital, are still at large. Hospital officials are scouring the nearby country in an endeavor to effect the capture of the escaped men, and they expect to have them in custody before the week is over. The men made their escape through the assistance of John Lowry, who is undergoing treatment in the hospital for a dipomanic.

Ross, who is insane on religious subjects, is a very small man, and in poor health. He is thought to be harmless.

Dickerson and Antolini have been violent since coming under the care of the hospital authorities, and the officials are anxious to capture the men before they harm some unsuspecting person.

SUPERVISOR CAPTURES THE CONSOLATION PRIZE AT PARTY

Fraternal Hall was the scene of a merry gathering last night when the Fraternal Brotherhood gave its long looked forward to whist party. Every table was filled with players, and the affair was one of the biggest successes yet given under the auspices of the lodge. Refreshments were served during the evening. The party was successfully arranged under the direction of a committee consisting of Frank R. Bailey, Mrs. Nellie K. ton and C. L. Mitchell.

First gentleman's prize was won by Frank Clark, second prize by Mary Rice Howland and the consolation prize by Zeb Knott.

Miss Mae Cairk was the winner of the ladies' first, Mrs. Mattie Schramm captured second prize, while Mrs. Wilson was awarded the consolation prize.

YEOMEN PLAN MEMBERSHIP CONTEST

The contest will close on April 22.

REVOLUTION DRAWS NEARER.

Last August there was universal agreement that the "Twilight of the Kings" was at hand. The coming of democracy and the downfall of autocracy was predicted by a whole tribe of prophets.

Then, when the Socialists went to war, when the patriotic craze swept whole peoples into its frenzy and when the "truce of Mars" was proclaimed in every nation in which there was to be no more parties, then these prophets of revolution changed their dream and saw the downfall of all revolutionary movements. Most certain were they that Socialism was gone.

For those who look closely the first real signs of revolution are in sight. It is not simply that in Austria whole cities are reported to be in the hands of mobs and that there are wide signs of revolt against war in the great German Social Democracy.

There are even more significant omens in other war-stricken lands. In Belgium, if anywhere on earth, a common misery should have brought a common solidarity. But L'Humanite, the French Socialist daily, tells of great protest meetings in Brussels, which "constantly call to mind those gigantic gatherings at the time of the general strike."

These meetings are not held to rally sentiment against the German military government. They are directed against Belgium—against good patriotic Belgians. They are meetings of tenants denouncing the Belgian landlords who, having fled to England, are now urging their agents to collect the pound of flesh from the starving Belgian workers.

There is a hint of the French revolution in this. "No class was so hated by the French proletariat as the accused 'emigres' who, from just beyond the frontiers, sought still to continue their economic place upon the backs of the revolutionary workers."

In France the same question has led to the threats of violent upheavals, and has finally compelled the government to grant a three months' moratorium on Paris rents. But it is only a postponement, and when the time comes to collect those accumulated rents from a penniless class of tenants, whose bread winners have been fighting at the front to protect "La Belle France," for "revanche" and several other things, are apt to discover that they have a much more practical if less poetic issue of their own to fight for.

This attitude of the workers in France, as in every other nation, is being aggravated by the insolent treason of the conservatives who have seized every opportunity to violate the "truce of parties" in the interest of clericalism, capitalism and even monarchism.

In Russia, the eager "revolutionists" who rushed "home" to fight for "their country" and the "little father," have been promptly seized by the agents of the "little father" and rushed into penitentiaries, fortress prisons and away to Siberian exile. Not even members of the duma have been exempt from this merciless persecution, and the iron heel of the czar has been ground deeper than ever into the body of Socialism and liberty in Finland.

In Germany all Socialist meetings in Hamburg have been forbidden. Vorwaerts has been gagged, an anti-war daily established in Stuttgart, half a dozen other Social-Democratic organs suppressed, and Saxony is reported to be under special "laws of exception," by which all liberty of expression is stifled.

In England unions and Socialists are attacking the government for its sweating methods, its miserable failure to care for the families at the front, the insults which are mixed with the "charity" extended to those families, and the general revival of all the viciousness of the class struggle.

In short, the rulers of every nation are teaching the workers that there is no war so pitiless as the class war, no enemy so treacherous as the ruling class, no truce that stops the aggressions of greed, and all the other lessons that the first alarm of war seemed to have driven from the minds of the workers.

These are the true signs of a coming revolution. They are the security that Socialism will not be wiped out by the war. They are the things that spell the downfall of capitalism and class patriotism and militarism and autocracy of every kind—and this not in Europe alone.—Milwaukee Leader.

WHEN A MAN'S MARRIED

RADKOVITCH MUST PAY HIS FINE OF $100

Superior Judge Latimer yesterday denied the appeal of Mike Radkovitch, charged with selling liquor at his home at the corner of Terrace and Tunnel avenues. When Radkovitch, who was convicted on the charge in the court of Judge Lindsay in this city, was fined $100, he appealed the case to the Superior Court. As a result of Latimer's ruling Radkovitch will be compelled to pay his fine.

FORD AND SUHR HEARING ON MARCH 6 IN SAN FRANCISCO

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 24.—The petitions of labor organizations and friends for the pardon of Richard Ford and Herman Suhr, convicted Hopfield rioters, who are under sentence for life for murder committed in Wheatland, will not be heard by Governor Johnson today, as planned, but on March 5. The continuance was made at the request of the attorney general. The hearing will be held in the office of Hiram W. Johnson Jr., in San Francisco, on March 5, at 10:30 o'clock.

ORGANIZED LABOR TO TRY AGAIN FOR IMMIGRATION BILL

A communication has been received by the Labor Council from the A. F. of L. urging that all union men and their sympathizers unite in they will have an excellent chance to force the bill through. Arguments showing the desirability of the bill, which provides for the literacy test, and in an effort to

STANDARD WINS IN HIGH COURT DECISION

Conservationists are today openly rejoicing over the decision of the United States Supreme Court upholding the presidential order in the withdrawal of millions of acres of oil lands in Wyoming and California, valued roughly at a billion dollars, and oil men and mining men are outspoken in their criticism of the court's findings.

The oil men declare the decision sounds the death knell of the oil industry in California and of the independent producer, while, on the other hand, it adds millions to the holdings of the Standard Oil and other great oil concerns, whose flowing wells have been made more valuable by the certain curtailment of production as a result of the court's order.

RICH MEN MADE POOR IN DAY

That there is much room for difference and opportunity for criticism of the decision the oil men declare is shown by the fact that three of the justices in Washington dissented from the opinion of the others. These three are Justices Day, McKenna and VanDevanter, all of them Republicans.

The decision throws back approximately 3,000,000 acres of oil lands taken up and partially developed by operators since 1909, into the public domain.

At the money spent on them by the operators and prospectors is lost, as is their prospect of returns from their venture.

Hundreds of oil men who were classed as wealthy early yesterday morning had every vestige of their prospects swept away by the decision.

LANE PLANNING RELIEF

The lands were withdrawn by President Taft in 1911, in response to the public clamor of the conservationists. Under the new proposed leasing system to be inaugurated by the department of the interior, as proposed by Secretary Lane, these oil lands will be subject to government leases, but may not be owned outright and patented under the placer mining claim law as formerly.

The immediate effect of this decision, oil men say, in California at least, will be the cutting down of the state's oil production and probably a resulting rise in the price of oil.

The cement control bill, which caused a big fight in 1913 and which Senator D. C. Owens promised in writing to vote for and then broke his promise, again is before the Senate in S. B. 10, Flaherty, and the Assembly in A. B. 14, W. A. McDonald. These bills are companions. It is provided that all Portland cement manufactured in California shall be packed in paper sack containers, or other quality of dust-proof container. The idea is to prevent the dust from escaping and being breathed by workmen. The longshoremen especially desire the measure. They must handle the cement in the holds of ships where the ventilation is bad and their health is destroyed by the cement dust.

To regulate private detective agencies, Senate bill 20 has been introduced. It provides that private detectives must first secure a license from the state and is somewhat similar to the one the local Building Trades Council brought up before the city council.

There are five "one day of rest" bills in the Senate and Assembly.

AT THE PANTAGES THIS WEEK

For Exposition week the Oakland Pantages offers one of its biggest shows of the season. Joint top line honors are being shared by "Neptune's Daughters," a bevy of six shapely swimming sprites, and Harry Girard & Co. in "The Luck of a Totem." "Neptune's Daughters" perform some dazzling high diving and trick and fancy under water swimming at a huge glass tank. The special added feature of the act will be an amateur diving and swimming contest for local girls, who plan to hold a frolic in the water. To winners of the contest, three massive silver loving cups will be awarded. Quinn Bros. and Marion, comedians; Helene Hamilton and Jack Barnes, travesty artists; Hiffar, the talkative juggler; shadowgraphist and monologist; Harry Davis and company in an aerial sharpshooting act, and three reels of comic motion pictures rounds out a highly promising bill of Pantages vaudeville.

Martin thinks his chum catcher will do so. Bath can hit .777, according to his friends.

MARTINEZ FIVE WINNER AGAIN

MARTINEZ, Feb. 24.—The Berkeley Y. M. C. A. basketball team is said to have come to Martinez with the record of having never met defeat, but when they tangled up with the M. A. C. quintet Saturday night at the club ball they were trimmed so properly that they did not know they were in the running. The score was 24 to 5, so judge for yourself of the game.

But the fact is that it was not so much the poor game of the visitors as it was the almost unequal speed and accuracy of the Martinez boys which won the game. Starting on the local team were Soto and Hoeniger, the M. A. C. guards, for such guarding as they displayed had never been seen here. There was a good attendance at the game, despite counter attractions, and the dance which followed was enjoyed.

Pounding out baseball junk on a cloudy day as a job is just about as inspiring as to lay off beer in warm weather. Notice we said warm. It never gets hot here, only when the laundryman demands a partial settlement.

LOCAL BARBER TO BATTLE WITH AMATEURS

Billy Lawlor, west side barber, has branched out as an amateur fighter. Lawlor is carded to mix things with George Miller at the next show of the West Oakland Club. Lawlor and Miller have not been the best of friends for some time, and lively milling is looked for when they clash. Lawlor will weigh in at 140 pounds. In anticipation of giving his opponent a trimming, and stepping into better matches in the future, when he is not busy with his razor. Lawlor is putting in his spare moments training.

MILLER CRUSHES INTO SPORT EDITING

VALLEJO, Feb. 24.—Helme Miller, formerly of the receiving ship at Mare Island and once recently at Yerba Buena, has parted company with the naval service and at the present time is located in the metropolis, where he is connected with the office of the "Out" magazine, a paper devoted entirely to the doings of the service.

Miller's enlistment expired this month and he took up his new duties at once. He is entirely in charge of the office in the metropolis, being vice president of the company as well as holding the position of sporting editor on the staff.

All the Coast League clubs have assembled at their training camps. Latest reports from said camps are to the effect that about all they have done is assemble; the elements won't let them play ball.

We are sure to hear with fury by Magilligan of the present day sporting news. We notice they are printing these stories about Willie Ritchie being beautiful while he is in the East and cannot defend himself.

Oh, for this thirty continuous minutes of this kind of story. Gosh! We thought about another one in about "Connie" O'Hara. Good thing we thought in time. We won't say another word about O'Hara, but we will say that Bill Luce is proud of his chief henchman.

"Money," the great union labor play, which will be seen for the last times today and this evening at the Richmond theatre, has proven one of the most interesting and timely dramas ever offered at the local playhouses, as it deals with conditions which are at every hand and which illustrates the fight which the men who toil must often times undergo to get what is rightfully theirs.

COLORED GIANTS MAY PLAY IN RICHMOND

If it is possible to make arrangements for a game, Bill Luce will send his Elks to against the colored Giants of Chicago when the dusky team hit the coast about three weeks hence. The negro team is of big league caliber. Baseball experts have stated that every man on the club is fast enough to hold down a job on a big league club. But the big leaguers draw the color line.

The Chicago "smokes" make an annual trip to the coast. Last season Portland was the only club that had nerve enough to play the "dark invading army. The result was that Portland was trimmed five games out of seven.

The management of the Colored Giants is looking for games out this way. Manager Bill Luce thinks it would be the best kind of a drawing card to see his bunch arrayed against the Ethiopians.
